Understanding the Risks of #HeroZero and #ZeroHero Options Calls

Options trading—particularly strategies shared under labels such as #HeroZero and #ZeroHero—involves high capital risk. These trades carry a high probability of total capital loss due to the leveraged and time-bound nature of derivatives.

Investors must engage in Futures & Options (F&O) trading strictly in accordance with their personal risk appetite and financial capacity. These calls are intended for experienced market participants who understand the volatility and complexity of options markets.

⊗ Exercise Caution:

While we provide research analysis and securities-specific recommendations, we do not offer:

(b) Personalized account handling

(d) Investment advisory based on individual risk profiling

Investors are responsible for their own investment decisions and should seek a registered investment adviser for personalized financial planning services.
